WATCH OUT FOR THE BIGGEST NEWS OF THE YEAR FOR PIG-PALS!

3 fantastic ideas!

hello, readers.....frank sidebottom here..! now...have you ever wondered what to do with your school books during the summer holidays?.....i know i do..! well, here are 3 fantastic ideas! of things you can make with them so don't dare say you're bored this summer.....or else!....o.k.?

1. construct a full size galleon and set sail on the 7 seas.

2. put them on a shelf (in order?).

or 3... make your own little frank.

actually...you'd better use newspapers for this as i might get in big trouble if you use your school books.

first: rip up loads of paper to about the size of stamps.

5: cut a nose and ears out of card and stick on with a couple more layers.

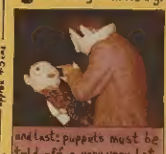

2: go and buy a balloon from the shops and some wallpaper glue.

6: paint the face and make a body out of a big piece of card and there's 'little frank'.

3: stick the paper all over the balloon. it is best if you do a few layers so it will be very very strong when it's dry.

and last: puppets must be told off a very very lot.

HEAD CASE!

I am a 41 year-old headmaster and an avid reader of 'Oink'. I particularly admire BANX, and have a strong sympathy with Mr. Bignose. I also read The Independent and The Times Educational Supplement, but they don't make me laugh.

T.E. Hassell, Suffolk.

Very nice letter. 10 out of 10 for handwriting, 10 out of 10 for spelling, 0 out of 10 for honesty (nobody that nice could really be a headmaster, could they?).

-Uncle Pigg.

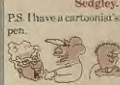

Next time teachers tell you off for reading 'Oink' in class, tell 'em you're studying to be an intellectual, like pig-pal Sean Connor who is working on 'Oink' as part of an 'Ideas in Society' course for his B.A. in Humanities at Bristol Polytechnic!

-Uncle Pigg, B.A. Butcher 'Ater!

The Skool Holiday Diary of Hadrian Vile (Aged 8½)

Being on skool holidays in summer is grate

You can eat anything you like, not boring ole skool dinners and pale lunks

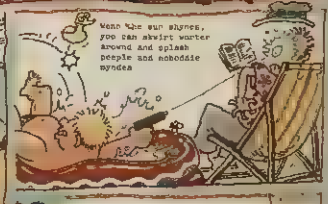

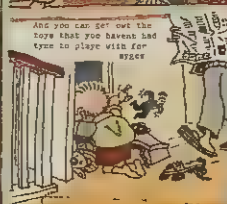

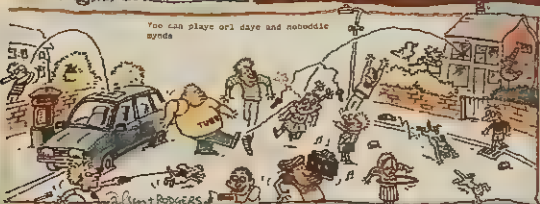

If it rains you can invite all yer friends into the house to play

You can play all day and nobody minds

And you can get out the toys that you haven't had time to play with for ages

When the sun shines, you can skip water around and splash people and nobody minds

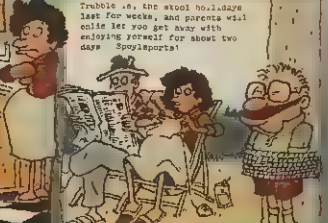

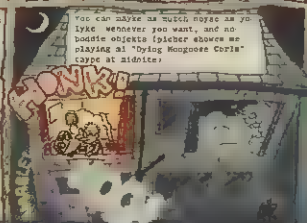

You don't have to do schoolwork but you can pile wet you like and not get into trouble for it

You can make as much noise as you like whenever you want, and no boddie objects (picher shows we playing at "Dying Mongroo Cows" type at midnite)

Trouble is, the skool holidays last for weeks, and parents will only let you get away with enjoying yourself for about two days

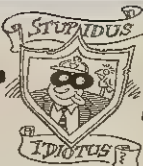

And you can increase your knowledge of bugs and insects and keepings, etc
